THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. A [ ] businessman recently found that in order to complete a transaction with the Hungarian agricultural monopoly Terimpex,* Budapest 4, Egypt u-1, he would be forced to deal with Intrac GmbH, the exclusive representative of Terimpex in Vienna.

2. This businessman [redacted] heard that Terimpex had large quantities of sausage casings for sale. Whereupon he wrote to that firm requesting price quotations on this commodity. When he had received a reply from Terimpex a few days later, he sought permission from the Austrian Government and the Austrian National Bank to import $9,400 worth of sausage casings from Hungary which he proposed to pay for in dollars cleared through the Austrian National Bank.

3. [redacted] a Mr. Coffin of Terimpex advised him by telephone that he, Coffin, had been informed by Intrac that the Austrian importer's request for foreign currency and permission to import sausage casings had been approved by the Austrian National Bank. The businessman was surprised at Coffin's statement, because he had not dealt either directly or indirectly with Intrac in this transaction. Coffin stated that Terimpex had increased its prices on sausage casings from 10 to 30 percent on various qualities since this businessman's original correspondence with the firm and that such an order could only be handled through a Mr. Bettelheim of Intrac in Vienna.** 50X
